

DAY SEVEN | missions

God we pray for the spread of Your Gospel overseas. The earth is Yours and all that is in it (Psalm 24:1). Please, use us, at Oak Mountain in Your redemptive plans for Your world. We pray for our 49 ministry partners who are laboring outside of the United States. We ask that You would provide them great protection from the enemy and give them favor with those to whom they minister.

Father we pray for OMPC ministry partners who are laboring over the fence and over the mountain, in our own city. You desire to see justice and mercy extended from the hand of Your people; please align our desires with Yours. Inspire us to new levels of generosity - living with less so that others may have more. Please work through us to have surprising impact on our community by extending our own hands in service and reconciliation, as well as through supporting home-based ministries.

God, inspire the people of OMPC to live missionally in all aspects of our lives. As we interact with our neighbors over the fence, serve communities over the mountain, and even venture overseas, give us grace that we would serve You well. God we ask for more laborers from our very own congregation - that more would engage in the spread of Your Gospel through prayer, financial giving, and participation in missions short-term or long-term.

Father, we lift up to you the members at OMPC who are engaging in missions in many different ways. From those pursuing their neighbors who are lost, going on short term mission trips, visiting hurting communities in our own city, and considering life-long mission work, we pray that You would bless the efforts of Your people and the mission of OMPC.

God, please protect your missionaries across the globe. The enemy is seeking to destroy them: their reputation, ministry, families, and health. We seek your mercy and grace for them. Be their shield and help them continue to stand strong by leaning on You.
